

Stormfront posts are the 2nd/3rd threads posted. Then I have the WND piece and Infowars... and American Spectator. Then the next two think the timing of the report was to demonize the right before the Tea Parties on 4/15 – and lastly Atlas Shrugged (a fairly popular conservative site) that insists this is part of the “plan” to move away from any focus on Islamic terrorism ...

I just included this one because I liked the graphic:

Obama’s DHS Declares “Domestic Right Wing Extremists Most Dangerous Threat Facing USA”

By INVAR

In a frightening “Unclassified” Homeland Security Office of Intelligence and Analysis Assessment, coordinated with the FBI - the government declares that “domestic right wing persons” are

"terrorists" engaged in "violent radicalization", "propaganda" and by extension of the assessment, enemies of the United States.

You read that correctly.

"Domestic Terrorists - are classified as Right Wing Extremists" and according to this assessment - are "the most dangerous domestic terrorist threat in the United States" according to this report.

Not Al Qaeda.

Not Jihad groups training for martyrdom on 35 U.S. training camps.

Not a nuclear Iran with a madman at the button.

Not a Ballistic missile firing North Korea.

Not Somali Muslim Pirates.

No, none of those things are the greatest threat that faces the United States.

According to this document, the "greatest threat to the United States" is from American citizens who reject the tyranny of the federal government, who advocates states rights, who love personal liberties, or opposes Obama's Marxist agenda, Abortion and Illegal Immigration - THEY are the threats according to this DHS "For official Use Only" document given to law enforcement.

So history repeats itself and the beginnings of yet another purge of "dissidents" by a government against its own people is being crafted.

Stalin had his Ukrainian peasants, Pol Pot had his Western educated intellectuals, and Hitler had his Jews. All groups identified and demonized so that the genocides that followed were accepted and applauded by the populace when totalitarian force was finally applied to eradicate the political opposition to dictatorial Marxist regimes.

So Obama will have his "Right Wing Extremists" as his domestic targets that he is setting up for annihilation by the hand of government and law enforcement.

People like William Ayers, a pal of Obama's - who actually bombed police stations and killed people while part of the Weather Underground, are celebrated and lofted to educators while anyone who clings to guns and the Christian religion - are to be considered 'Extremists' and 'terrorists' by government and Law Enforcement.

Here is what the report defines as "Rightwing Extremism":

Rightwing extremism in the United States can be broadly divided into those groups, movements, and adherents that are primarily hate-oriented (based on hatred of particular religious, racial or ethnic groups), and those that are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration.

Whether or not this Assessment is legitimate, or has been leaked - the government and the Left is stoking the greater Conservative Christian Citizens of this nation into anger and provoking them towards violence. Tie this into Bob Basso being called to the White House for his "disturbing" Thomas Paine videos and the mainstream media declaring that the Tea Parties being held across the country this Wednesday - are "dangerous" - and one can clearly see the zeitgeist being created by the government to hate and consider dangerous - a large segment of the American population that disagree with Leftist/Marxist ideology.

Here's how the media is portraying the Tea Party movement:

Tea Parties Inspire Revolution

The Tea Party movement is an incredibly dangerous concept, fuelled by the usual gushes of sycophantic support from the conservative news media

If the country continues down this dark path, a second Civil War might not just be a cool idea for a sci-fi novel anymore. Can you imagine the potential for chaos if some of these ‘protesters’ decide to exercise the Second Amendment and bring their weapons to these rallies? There’s a thin line between peaceful protest and bloodthirsty patriotic fervor, especially if those protesting are used to being on the side of the mighty status quo.

The Tea Party movement represents a real danger to the tenets of democracy Americans have embraced for centuries.

Given the fact ACORN and other Marxist operatives and agitators on the Web are giving instructions for infiltrating and “disrupting” these tea parties for the purpose of demonizing Conservatives even further - one has to wonder how close we truly are to the bloodshed these Marxists are pushing for?

Let’s break down and look at some of the wording in this “assessment” and discover what they really mean.

Under Scope, the Assessment reads:

This product is one of a series of intelligence assessments published by the Extremism and Radicalization Branch to facilitate a greater understanding of the phenomenon of violent radicalization in the United States. The information is provided to federal, state, local, and tribal counterterrorism and law enforcement officials so they may effectively deter, prevent, preempt, or respond to terrorist attacks against the United States. Federal efforts to influence domestic public opinion must be conducted in an overt and transparent manner, clearly identifying United States Government sponsorship.

So, the government says that they are providing this information about “violent right wing radicals” (anyone who believes in limited government, States Rights, liberty and opposes Obama’s agenda, Abortion and clings to guns or religion) must be deterred, preempted, and that we are terrorists whereby the government will influence (read DEMONIZE) public opinion against them in an overt manner.

Under “Key Findings”

The economic downturn and the election of the first African American president present unique drivers for rightwing radicalization and recruitment.

Threats from white supremacist and violent antigovernment groups during 2009 have been largely rhetorical and have not indicated plans to carry out violent acts. Nevertheless, the consequences of a prolonged economic downturn—including real estate foreclosures, unemployment, and an inability to obtain credit—could create a fertile recruiting environment for rightwing extremists and even result in confrontations between such groups and government authorities similar to those in the past.

~~(U//LES)~~ Rightwing extremists have capitalized on the election of the first African American president, and are focusing their efforts to recruit new members, mobilize existing supporters, and

(b) (7)(E)

So, while the government has no evidence that Limbaugh, Hannity, Beck, Levin, Ingraham, you, me or anyone who is a Conservative that the government now classifies as an “extremist” “terrorist”, it publishes this report because they assume we are an enemy that is soon going to do violence against them.

The possible passage of new restrictions on firearms and the return of military veterans facing significant challenges reintegrating into their communities could lead to the potential emergence of terrorist groups or lone wolf extremists capable of carrying out violent attacks.

Interesting that the government notes ‘possible restrictions on firearms’ and returning vets will create “terrorist groups” or that individuals upset over the same things are just as dangerous - calling them “lone wolves”. These are the assessments of a tyrannical regime, prepping for oppression and genocide, not legitimate governmental concerns.

They continue that thought process here, obviously considering the fact that weapons bans are going to soon become a reality:

Proposed imposition of firearms restrictions and weapons bans likely would attract new members into the ranks of rightwing extremist groups, as well as potentially spur some of them to begin planning and training for violence against the government. The high volume of purchases and stockpiling of weapons and ammunition by rightwing extremists in anticipation of restrictions and bans in some parts of the country continue to be a primary concern to law enforcement.

Do we really need any more evidence that this government regime is a tyranny, classifying an entire segment of the American people as “terrorists”, demonizing them in the eyes of other countrymen and law enforcement? Any American with any love for the Constitution and our inalienable Rights would oppose any firearms bans and restrictions, as they are in violation of the Supreme Law of the Land. However, these cretins assume that everyone who is stocking up on ammo and weapons before Obama’s regime makes good on weapons bans - is now considered an extremist in the eyes of both law enforcement and the government.

I guess the oaths they took mean jack crap to them.

Returning veterans possess combat skills and experience that are attractive to rightwing extremists. DHS/I&A is concerned that rightwing extremists will attempt to recruit and radicalize returning veterans in order to boost their violent capabilities.

Great. Not only is anyone stocking up on arms a threat in the eyes of this regime, veterans of our military are now to be given a suspicious eye.

Under Historical Presidential Election:

Many rightwing extremists are antagonistic toward the new presidential administration and its perceived stance on a range of issues, including immigration and citizenship, the expansion of social programs to minorities, and restrictions on firearms ownership and use. Rightwing extremists are increasingly galvanized by these concerns and leverage them as drivers for recruitment. From the 2008 election timeframe to the present, rightwing extremists have capitalized on related racial and political prejudices in expanded propaganda campaigns, thereby reaching out to a wider audience of potential sympathizers.

Translation: anyone opposing the fuhrer...er- messiah, the president Hussein Obama, or his policies and agenda - is an enemy of the state and probably planning extremist violence.

There you have it. There is his justification for any upcoming Stalinesque brutality and oppression by the state upon it's own targeted class of people.

I guess if we refuse to "spread our wealth around" as Obama told Joe the Plumber - we can consider ourselves to be a criminal and terrorist in the eyes of this regime usurping the White House.

That's okay - King George III thought the same thing of the Colonists who voted for Independence too.

We're in good company.

Under Illegal Immigration:

DHS/I&A assesses that rightwing extremist groups' frustration over a perceived lack of government action on illegal immigration has the potential to incite individuals or small groups toward violence.

So if you oppose Amnesty for Illegal Aliens in this country who circumvented and broke our laws to be in this country - you are an extremist with potential to incite individuals to violence.

My, my - how the Reds and Marxists love to endear criminals and our enemies to their march to revolution.

Under Legislative and Judicial Drivers:

Many rightwing extremist groups perceive recent gun control legislation as a threat to their right to bear arms and in response have increased weapons and ammunition stockpiling, as well as renewed participation in paramilitary training exercises. Such activity, combined with a heightened level of extremist paranoia, has the potential to facilitate criminal activity and violence.

...On the current front, legislation has been proposed this year requiring mandatory registration of all firearms in the United States....a correlation may exist between the potential passage of gun control legislation and increased hoarding of ammunition, weapons stockpiling, and paramilitary training activities among rightwing extremists.

So if you like your Second Amendment birthrights, and oppose the attempts to infringe upon them by this regime, you are a paranoid extremist with potential to commit crimes and violence in the eyes of this government.

However, if you are a Muslim Jihadist - you can train with firearms and explosives to kill American infidels on 35 U.S. Jihad training camps and this government will demand that they be left alone and not racially profiled or acted against.

But you - YOU, who revere your rights to arms - YOU are an Extremist and Terrorist according to your government - NOT the Jihadists.

Under Lone Wolves and Small Terrorist Cells:

DHS/I&A assesses that lone wolves and small terrorist cells embracing violent rightwing extremist ideology are the most dangerous domestic terrorism threat in the United States.

Information from law enforcement and nongovernmental organizations indicates lone wolves and small terrorist cells have shown intent—and, in some cases, the capability—to commit violent acts.

So it's not just groups like Tea Party organizers, the GOP, Ron Paul Mob Zombies or Talk Radio Audiences - YOU - little ol' YOU and little ol' me - are are the MOST DANGEROUS DOMESTIC TERRORISM THREAT IN THE USA. Radical Islamics and Jihadists are not the greatest threat in the eyes of the government and DHS - no - YOU ARE. I AM.

Given the actions of Congress of late, and certain politicians with disdain and contempt for Conservative Americans, the Obama Regime's plan for Change is really nothing but a Blueprint Pogrom for genocide - of the targeted and selected "Right wing extremist" for demonization - and eventual elimination. But then we warned of this back in October of last year that the Marxists were planning for such a thing.

Of course no one really thinks it could happen here. Which is why it will be so easy for it to succeed.

History always repeats, and these Marxist power-mad demagogues in the government are deadly serious about their intents - as this document attests.

It's either that, or the regime is stoking the people for a confrontation - which of course Saul Alinsky said was absolutely necessary for a Marxist revolution to be truly successful.

Either way, we live in extremely dangerous times.

So how does it feel to be a dangerous terrorist extremist in the eyes of this regime?

I think it feels like liberty-loving Americanism in the face of despotism to me.

I smell the ADL and SPLC all over this "Intelligence and Analysis Assessment".

This report sounds strangely similar to the Missouri Papers scandal ... [posted here]

While both the ADL and SPLC actively market themselves and seek roles as advisers to law enforcement and the media, both groups regularly engage in political tactics like those observed in the now withdrawn Missouri Documents. Materials from one or both organizations contributed to this scandal.

In fact, it could be likened to a socialist, or even a communistic government considering how many of governmental programs and multiculturalism that is being shoved down our

In addition, the US government that is currently in power has absolutely ignored and used the constitution as a toilet paper. The federal government needs to be shrunk to a more diplomatic role while its former powers need to be returned to states.

They aren't concerned about foreign troops becoming radical..since this is a non-white loving government.

I think they are concerned about white veterans coming home and seeing the country in ruins, having no jobs, and realizing just how unnecessary it was for them to risk their lives for nothing, and on top of it, they want to confiscate their guns they might own at home. I've met a few Iraq and Afghanistan veterans, couldn't find one who likes what they see.

Army trained whites are the biggest threat to the government. They know how to use a rifle, throw grenade and have leadership skills and warfare tactics. The best militias back in the day were lead by and made out from battle hardened soldiers.

I was crazy republican and patriotic all my life. I returned after 4 years and saw my home town in ruins and I did some research and was awakened.

Re: DOHS Warns of Right-Wing Extremists

They are so way out in left field targeting White active duty and veteran troops. First of all, when comparing Whites to these other non-White gangs, shows one who the truly criminal orientated and violent ones are. That being the non-Whites.

Militias with White members are nothing compared to the likes of MS-13, Crips, Bloods, BGD, and all the rest of them, because their purposes are radically different. When Whites come together in this fashion it is for our race. When non-Whites come together, it is to commit crimes and acts of violence. That is the non-White genetic blueprint playing itself out, over and over again.

Meanwhile, the SPLC has been at the forefront of the hype surrounding this boogymen they want to create in the public's mind. That of the White active duty or military veteran who dares to support their own people. Whether this "problem" really exists doesn't matter all that much. The hype is what matters. The government jumping on the witch hunt band wagon is what matters. Publicity and manipulation matter, like so many other things in this increasingly Jew dominated world gone totally mad. And all the while, we have the truly violent and dangerous non-White gang members who are being ignored, and getting away with murder.

It is really sickening and only getting worse. And everytime another headline pops up like this, of Whites being demonized, of the fear level being jacked-up against them, against the very idea that we love our race and want to protect it, is more proof of this Jewish disease running rampant through the world.

I woke up fully in Iraq.

Iraq is an intense immediate case against the multicultural multiracialist nightmare that almost any White soldier or veteran can readily identify with.

Finding out WHO motivated that war and who the architects were, and who ran the media that played the warmongering cheerleader role was a real eye-opening experience. I recommend providing this information in a transitional manner (not the whole frying pan at once) to any soldier or vet who has been to Iraq or Afghanistan.

Then, when they get back "home" to America, help them take a good hard-truth look at the land and what is happening here. Often, you will see the scales falling from their eyes. "Now, it's time to serve OUR people and defend OUR nation".

One day we all will be "terrorist" as long as IT GIVES MORE AND MORE POWER TO THE TOP. Communists are in charge now.

Haven't you heard the new ideas, ALL young people are going to serve in our new Israeli-style military, vaccinations, chemicals and all, all of our kids, no choice, just like Israel:rolleyes:. It's fu*king bullsh*t. As Obama says, prepare to eat less, prepare to be colder "turn that heat down" prepare to work hard, sacrifice, give to the community, go with out. Enjoy working longer days for half or a third of what you make right now, while paying back that 10 trillion we gave to the same millionaires/billionaire bankers who screwed us in the first place. And people like Emmanuel who are now in charge, running the White House. Trained in Israel the prodigal son. Do you like just this fraction of the new solutions, all these are 100% serious, in the works, AND ARE GOING TO HAPPEN.

I wonder why they might make up a load of crap like this, maybe to prepare for what they know will happen, when in the next year we become owned, NO LONGER FREE. Every teen, drafted, and all this other crap, think about this people. Like millions of people aren't going to be extremely angry and awake. Here's a surprise for the assholes on top, all the big elite. Nothing will stop us all from finding you should you screw us all. For some reason these elite think we're all stupid and weak. America is full of both patriots and animals who would love to taste their blood should they screw us all, As it looks like they are currently doing, in government and finance. NO ONE, no country, or single group of people puts up with being dominated forever. America definitely isn't totally on to some of these new ideas, and will snap, big time. The military will NOT have my kids to experiment on, and I will not be a slave to Zionist Israeli anti-American regime. AND THE PEOPLE CAN NOT BE STOPPED. If the top don't like it, they better behave and be for the people, not against us.

~~(U)~~ A prominent civil rights organization reported in 2006 that "large numbers of potentially violent neo-Nazis, skinheads, and other white supremacists are now learning the art of warfare in the [U.S.] armed forces."

— ~~(U//LES)~~ The FBI noted in a 2008 report on the white supremacist movement that some returning military veterans from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan have joined extremist groups

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Lone Wolves and Small Terrorist Cells

~~(U//FOUO)~~ DHS/I&A assesses that lone wolves and small terrorist cells embracing violent rightwing extremist ideology are the most dangerous domestic terrorism threat in the United States. Information from law enforcement and nongovernmental organizations indicates lone wolves and small terrorist cells have shown intent—and, in some cases, the capability—to commit violent acts.

— ~~(U//LES)~~ DHS/I&A has concluded that white supremacist lone wolves pose the most significant domestic terrorist threat because of their low profile and autonomy—separate from any formalized group—which hampers warning efforts.

— ~~(U//FOUO)~~ Similarly, recent state and municipal law enforcement reporting has warned of the dangers of rightwing extremists embracing the tactics of "leaderless resistance" and of lone wolves carrying out acts of violence.

— ~~(U//FOUO)~~ Arrests in the past several years of radical militia members in Alabama, Arkansas, and Pennsylvania on firearms, explosives, and other related violations indicates the emergence of small, well-armed extremist groups in some rural areas.

http://images.logicsix.com/DHS_RWE.pdf

Now suddenly the veterans are "neo nazi terrorists", "white supremacist threats", "domestic terrorists", you really have to question, just who's government is sitting in Washington DC...

Nothing will stop us all from finding you should you screw us all. For some reason these elite think were all stupid and weak. America is full of both patriots and animals who would love to taste their blood should they screw us all, Asa itds looks like they are curenly doing., in governemnt and finace. NO ONE, no country, or single group of people puts up with being dominated forever. America definatly isnt totaly on to some

There is an awfull amount of fear, I hope these zionist pigs get that they can not stop the millinions of people, beside's the white and x soldiers they obviously fear big time. Millions will decend if keep screwing us financialy, legaly and so on. There will be no stoping the american people, and with the ways things are now, and all their new anti american communist ideas that will take away freedom and kill america, they should be afraid. not of a select few, but everyone. They may as well leave the US now because amercas people wont stand for this war on freedom, rights, our money and so on. Plus Obama love is dieing out and people are waking up. No one will see america fully become israel's slave. We dont need violence, but as usual the top will likely bring it on peacfull protest and use lies as usual.

Great idea, Whites Forward. We need a de-programing program for returning vets, one that gradually puts all the pieces of the puzzle together. Once Vets see the light, the real motivations of our "leaders" the scales will indeed fall from their eyes. Maybe a thread like this, which identifies White Veterans as enemies of the State, and WHY.

Maybe it is in our own racial interest that the Dept of Homeland Security is identifying returning White soliders from the Middle East as terrorist suspects. By identifying returning American soldiers as the "enemy", DOHS is alienating them from "Big Brother" and pushing them towards us. Vets will be forced to choose between a government that views them as a threat, and our position where we welcome them home as prodigal sons and daughters.

I can forgive you on your ignorance of the National Anarchist movement. Claiming a Libertarian can be an ethnic nationalist is a bigger stretch since there is no historical precedent for that (anarchism however has plenty). Private property is also irrelevant to ethnic nationalism (let alone what my personal "belief" might be, however we have no intent of nationalizing Georgia into the Bay Area NAZ). A true believer in "private property" would trump any ethnic reason for keeping a community homogeneous. But since you're a part of Stormfront you're basically signaling that you don't care about every ones right to a private property unless they're white. But whatever, just be consistent.

For DOHS reading this fine commentary in recent years I have yet to meet a white military man who does not support our cause.

More times than not, it is what a report doesn't say, that is the most telling. Who would make such a report that doesn't single out the left and what race do we find, in the largest amounts on the right? People will read this report and accept it on its word without giving it any thought. Our job is to take each and every similar report and dissect it on the Internet and expose it for what it is; a blatant propagandist lie Eventually, after thousands of dissections we will start winning over hearts and minds. Beware of those who want to blame our medium of discourse, the Internet, for the problem.

Much as they'd like to, they cannot fill the ranks of Homeland Security with lesbian Jews. They will have to employ White men to do the heavy lifting. There will soon come a time when White men, working for the DOHS will be forced to go after White American Veterans. Advocating violence is stupid, but NOT to discuss the labeling of White American Soliders as "potential terrorists" is also stupid. We, as a people, are being labeled as enemy combatants simply because we object to seeing our children sent off to die in endless wars for Israel. We are being labeled as the "enemy" simply because we object to a Negro president placing a trillion dollar debt burden on our childrens future. What we must always remember is that we are right and they are wrong. We are the true Americans, and they are imposters, seeking our destruction. To allow them to define us, as the enemy of America, is to forfeit our advantage of being right. They will have defined us as criminals, to be arrested in the dead of night...never to be heard from again, much like the gulags of Soviet Russia, under Stalin.

Re: DHS Report on right wing extremist

Well it's an interesting report.

Kind of ironic that the whole theme of the report was that they're worried about violence from US (to me it seems like we have more to fear from them then the other way around, I've never gone to a Feds house and torn it apart looking for illegal guns so that I could put the homeowner in prison for 30 years and pushed his pregnant wife down some stairs or stomped a kitten to death) and that they aren't worried about any sort of regular political activity in the slightest.

I guess they think that the only way we can possibly win is through racial and political violence.

That's one of the ways we could win, but it's not the only way.

Every day I talk to people that are sick to death of immigration, foreign wars that don't have anything to do with our national security, creeping loss of rights in regards to free speech and firearms and sick to death of this current economic crisis (that they created with their insistence that every Non-White scumbag out there should have a house even if they couldn't afford it). There's a real untapped segment of society and system of belief that could actually go somewhere if some straight talking, moral leader were to actually tap into that. We don't necessarily have to resort to violence to get what we want, that's just one of the many ways it may play out.

Homeland Security on guard for 'right-wing extremists'

Returning U.S. military veterans singled out as particular threats

Posted: April 12, 2009

© 2009 WorldNetDaily

WASHINGTON – A newly unclassified Department of Homeland Security report warns against the possibility of violence by unnamed "right-wing extremists" concerned about illegal immigration, increasing federal power, restrictions on firearms, abortion and the loss of U.S. sovereignty and singles out returning war veterans as particular threats.

The report, titled "Right-wing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Climate Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment," dated April 7, states that "threats from white supremacist and violent anti-government groups during 2009 have been largely rhetorical and have not indicated plans to carry out violent acts."

However, the report goes on to suggest worsening economic woes, potential new legislative restrictions on firearms and "the return of military veterans facing significant challenges reintegrating into their communities could lead to the potential emergence of terrorist groups or lone wolf extremists capable of carrying out violent attacks."

Are you ready for a second Declaration of Independence? Sign the petition promoting true freedom once again!

The report from DHS' Office of Intelligence and Analysis defines right-wing extremism in the U.S. as "divided into those groups, movements and adherents that are primarily hate-oriented (based on hatred of particular religious, racial or ethnic groups) and those that are mainly anti-government, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration."

"[T]he consequences of a prolonged economic downturn – including real estate foreclosures, unemployment and an inability to obtain credit – could create a fertile recruiting environment for right-wing extremists and even result in confrontations between such groups and government authorities similar to those in the past," the report says.

It adds that "growth in these groups subsided in reaction to increased government scrutiny as a result of the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing and disrupted plots, improvements in the economy and the continued U.S. standing as the pre-eminent world power."

"Proposed imposition of firearms restrictions and weapons bans likely would attract new members into the ranks of right-wing extremist groups as well as potentially spur some of them to begin planning and training for violence against the government," the report continues. "The high volume of purchases and stockpiling of weapons and ammunition by right-wing extremists in anticipation of restrictions and bans in some parts of the country continue to be a primary concern to law enforcement."

Most notable is the report's focus on the impact of returning war veterans.

"Returning veterans possess combat skills and experience that are attractive to right-wing extremists," it says. "DHS/I&A is concerned that right-wing extremists will attempt to recruit and radicalize veterans in order to boost their violent capacities."

The report cites the April 4 shooting deaths of three police officers in Pittsburgh as an example of what may be coming, claiming the alleged gunman holds a racist ideology and believes in anti-government conspiracy theories about gun confiscations, citizen detention camps and "a Jewish-controlled 'one-world government.'"

It also suggests the election of an African-American president and the prospect of his policy changes "are proving to be a driving force for right-wing extremist recruitment and radicalization."

The report also mentions "'end times' prophecies could motivate extremist individuals and groups to stockpile food, ammunition and weapons. These teachings also have been linked with the radicalization of domestic extremist individuals and groups in the past, such as the violent Christian Identity organizations and extremist members of the militia movement."

"DHS/I&A assesses that right-wing extremist groups' frustration over a perceived lack of government action on illegal immigration has the potential to incite individuals or small groups toward violence," the report continues.

The report states the DHS will be working with state and local partners over the next several months to determine the levels of right-wing extremist activity in the U.S.

Last month, the chief of the Missouri highway patrol blasted a report issued by the Missouri Information Analysis Center that linked conservative groups to domestic terrorism, assuring that such reports no longer will be issued. The report had been compiled with the assistance of DHS.

The report warned law enforcement agencies to watch for suspicious individuals who may have bumper stickers for third-party political candidates such as Ron Paul, Bob Barr and Chuck Baldwin.

It further warned law enforcement to watch out for individuals with "radical" ideologies based on Christian views, such as opposing illegal immigration, abortion and federal taxes.

Chief James Keathley of the Missouri State Patrol issued a statement that the release of the report, which outraged conservatives nationwide, prompted him to "take a hard look" at the procedures through which the report was released by the MIAC.

"My review of the procedures used by the MIAC in the three years since its inception indicates that the mechanism in place for oversight of reports needs improvement," he wrote. "Until two weeks ago, the process for release of reports from the MIAC to law enforcement officers around the state required no review by leaders of the Missouri State Highway Patrol or the Department of Public Safety."

"For that reason, I have ordered the MIAC to permanently cease distribution of the militia report," he said. "Further, I am creating a new process for oversight of reports drafted by the MIAC that will require leaders of the Missouri State Highway Patrol and the Department of Public Safety to review the content of these reports before they are shared with law enforcement. My office will also undertake a review of the origin of the report by MIAC."

Secret DHS Doc Predicts Violence in Response to New Gun Restrictions

Kurt Nimmo

Infowars

April 12, 2009

In the wake of the MIAC report and the Virginia Terrorism Threat Assessment, another document issued by the Department of Homeland Security “for official use only” covering so-called “rightwing extremism” has surfaced. The document warns federal and local officials to expect “terrorism” in response to planned firearm restrictions and other points covered below.

Alex Jones called the numbers listed on the document and validated its authenticity. He contacted the “watch captain” at the Department of Homeland Security’s National Infrastructure Coordinating Center who confirmed the product number on the document as legitimate but would not comment further. A call to the FBI went unanswered.

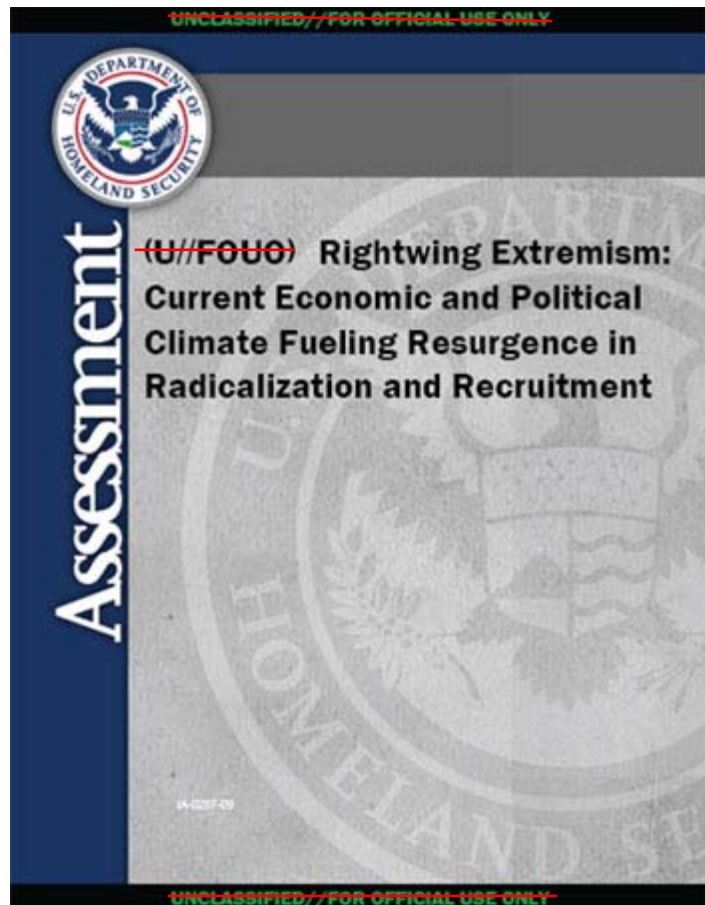

The following points covered in the document are of particular concern:

Gun Sales

According to the DHS and FBI, local law enforcement’s primary concern should be the high volume of gun and ammunitions purchases over the last few months. The document equates Americans who stockpile ammunition to “rightwing terrorists.” Moreover, stockpiling (merely purchasing) ammunition is an indication of involvement in “paramilitary training exercises” and potential terrorist activity.

According to the Irish Times, the “stockpiling” of ammunition and increased firearm sales are due to the fear Obama will impose new gun laws and other restrictions. “Gun-shop owners and the National Rifle Association (NRA) say the surge is driven by worries that President Obama is planning to ban many types of firearms and that the deepening economic crisis will fuel a crime wave.”

If we are to believe the DHS and the FBI, these Americans, numbering in the millions, are violence prone terrorists and a threat to local law enforcement. In addition, as noted below, concerns about crime due to a worsening economy are paranoid fantasies exploited by terrorists

Job Losses and the Economy

The document states that job losses, home foreclosures, and the collapsing economy are “perceived” by rightwing terrorists and exploited by them to “draw in new recruits” and further radicalize “those already subscribing to extremist beliefs.” According to the document, the economic crisis is a perception without a foundation in reality, merely an exaggerated device used by terrorists.

In other words, if you complain about the faltering economy reported upon numerous times a day by the corporate media you are a rightwing extremist and a terrorist who may resort to violence and threaten local law enforcement, especially if you support the Second Amendment, own firearms, and “stockpile” (purchase) ammunition.

Illegal Immigration

Like the economic crisis, illegal immigration is at best a perception, not reality, and the rightwing terrorists have exploited this political issue as a racist “call to action” and recruitment tool. The DHS document claims the extremists have exploited the First Amendment on this issue in order to foment violence against illegal immigrants and those who support amnesty and other schemes to legalize illegal immigration. The DHS document cites several examples supposedly linked to anti-immigrant violence committed by “militia members” and mentions a “machinegun attack on Hispanics.”

Stated Purpose of the Document

Dated April 7, 2009, the “scope” of the document is as follows:

This product is one of a series of intelligence assessments published by the Extremism and Radicalization Branch to facilitate a greater understanding of the phenomenon of violent radicalization in the United States. The information is provided to federal, state, local, and tribal counterterrorism and law enforcement officials so they may effectively deter, prevent, preempt, or respond to terrorist attacks against the United States. Federal efforts to influence domestic public opinion must be conducted in an overt and transparent manner, clearly identifying United States Government sponsorship.

The DHS document — with the unwieldy title “Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Climate Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment” — contains the following warning:

LAW ENFORCEMENT INFORMATION NOTICE: This product contains ~~Law Enforcement Sensitive (LES)~~ information. No portion of the ~~LES~~ information should be released to the media, the general public, or over non-secure Internet servers. Release of this information could adversely affect or jeopardize investigative activities.

Warning: This document is ~~UNCLASSIFIED//FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY (U//FOUO)~~. It contains information that may be exempt from public release under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552). It is to be controlled, stored, handled, transmitted, distributed, and disposed of in accordance with DHS policy relating to FOUO information and is not to be released to the public, the media, or other personnel who do not have a valid need-to-know without prior approval of an authorized DHS official. State and local homeland security officials may share this document with authorized security personnel without further approval from DHS.

The DHS wanted the document to remain secret but it was leaked, probably by “authorized security personnel” in local law enforcement (as was the case with the MIAC document produced by the Missouri State Police). Information in the document was “provided to federal, state, local, and tribal counterterrorism and law enforcement officials so they may effectively deter, prevent, preempt, or respond to terrorist attacks against the United States.”

The DHS document — produced in coordination with the FBI — begins by stating it is “one of a series of intelligence assessments published by the Extremism and Radicalization Branch to facilitate a greater understanding of the phenomenon of violent radicalization in the United States” (it is interesting to note the phrase “violent radicalization” is the same one used in H.R. 1955, entitled the “Violent Radicalization and Homegrown Terrorism Prevention Act of 2007”).

Key Findings

In “Key Findings,” the DHS document states that the Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A) has no “no specific information that domestic rightwing terrorists are currently planning acts of violence, but rightwing extremists may be gaining new recruits by playing on their fears about several emergent issues [specifically gun control]. The economic downturn and the election of the first African American president present unique drivers for rightwing radicalization and recruitment.”

The above text points to a footnote on the page dividing “rightwing terrorists” into two categories — “adherents that are primarily hate-oriented (based on hatred of particular religious, racial or ethnic groups), and those that are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely.”

It is significant the DHS (and FBI) categorize opposition to the government as terrorism. The FBI in particular has labeled various “rightwing” movements as extremist for more than a decade, so this is nothing new or revelatory.

The authors of the document drag out all of the old “rightwing” bugaboos, most notably the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing. In addition, they mention the “[p]roposed imposition of firearms restrictions and weapons bans” resulting in recruiting new members and culminating in the “planning and training for violence against the government.”

In order to underscore this assertion, the authors note the “high volume of purchases and stockpiling of weapons and ammunition by rightwing extremists in anticipation of restrictions and bans in some parts of the country continue to be a primary concern to law enforcement.” In fact, as noted above, the “high volume of purchases,” as the media has reported, is a reaction on the part of Americans in general regardless of ideological persuasion. It is a common sense reaction to the documented fact president Obama is opposed to firearms ownership, even though he claims to support the Second Amendment.

The DHS I&A attributes the purported “resurgence in rightwing extremist recruitment and radicalization activity” to economic factors and the election of Barack Obama. “Despite similarities to the climate of the 1990s [a reference to the militia movement exaggerated by government and corporate media], the threat posed by lone wolves and small terrorist cells is more pronounced than in past years. In addition, the historical election of an African American president and the prospect of policy changes [i.e., gun registration leading to eventual confiscation] are proving to be a driving force for rightwing extremist recruitment and radicalization.”

The tone of the document indicates that the government plans to impose restrictions on the ownership of firearms. In addition, the document warns local law enforcement that “rightwing terrorists” will violently resist any attempt to register or confiscate guns.

Link to Pittsburgh Cop Killer

In order to stress the point, the authors cite as an example the murder of three police officers in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania:

The alleged gunman’s reaction reportedly was influenced by his racist ideology and belief in antigovernment conspiracy theories related to gun confiscations, citizen detention camps, and a Jewish-controlled “one world government.”

Following this event, the liberal noise machine, funded in large part by the Soros and Ford foundations, expended an extraordinary amount of energy attempting to link the murders to Fox News and Alex Jones. Jones was singled out by the Anti-Defamation League (Shooter In Pittsburgh Cop Killings Held Strongly Anti-Semitic And Racist Beliefs, April 6, 2009) as having influenced the alleged killer, Richard Poplawski, who frequented the white supremacist website hosted by Stormfront. “According to ADL, Poplawski also frequented ‘Infowars,’ the Web site of the right-wing conspiracy radio talk-show host Alex Jones, where he shared links to its stories with others and sometimes posted his own messages to the site,” the ADL wrote in the above linked press release.

Similarity to SPLC and ADL Talking Points

According to the Americans for Legal Immigration PAC, the MIAC documents were heavily influenced by “faulty and politicized research issued by the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) and Anti Defamation League (ADL).”

The Southern Poverty Law Center was cited as a research source for the ‘Missouri Documents’. Furthermore, the attempt of these documents to cast suspicion of violent and life threatening behavior on millions of Americans who are concerned about these issues [unemployment, taxes, illegal immigration, gangs, border security, abortion, high costs of living, gun restrictions, FEMA, the IRS, The Federal Reserve, and the North American Union/SPP/North American Community] is consistent with the regularly released political materials of both the SPLC and ADL.

The DHS’ “Extremism and Radicalization Branch” participated in the “Global Summit on Internet Hate Speech” organized by the International Network Against Cyber-Hate and the Anti-Defamation League and held November 17-18, 2008, in Washington, DC. Abraham H. Foxman, ADL National Director, was a key speaker at the event.

The DHS document claims today's "rightwing terrorists" present more of a threat than those of the earlier period:

Unlike the earlier period, the advent of the Internet and other informationage technologies since the 1990s has given domestic extremists greater access to information related to bomb-making, weapons training, and tactics, as well as targeting of individuals, organizations, and facilities, potentially making extremist individuals and groups more dangerous and the consequences of their violence more severe. New technologies also permit domestic extremists to send and receive encrypted communications and to network with other extremists throughout the country and abroad, making it much more difficult for law enforcement to deter, prevent, or preempt a violent extremist attack.

The document makes it clear the DHS and FBI consider websites such as Infowars and Prison Planet to be vehicles for "potentially making extremist individuals and groups more dangerous and the consequences of their violence more severe." (Note: Alex Jones has repeatedly warned his listeners against violence.)

Recall a House Homeland Security Subcommittee hearing on "Terrorism and the Internet" held in November, 2007, and broadcast on C-Span, that featured a panel of "experts," including representatives formerly of the RAND Corporation and the Simon Wiesenthal Center who presented 9/11 truth websites alongside sites that celebrate the attacks and offer training in terrorist tactics. "The hearing was chaired by Democratic Rep. Jane Harman, and ranking Republican, Rep. Dave Reichert. It was supposed to focus on the use of the internet by 'home grown terrorist recruiters' yet in a shocking move it blatantly related the 9/11 truth movement with so called radical 'jihadists,'" Paul Joseph and Steve Watson wrote at the time.

Alleged "falsehoods" and "conspiracy theories," according to RAND corporation director Bruce Hoffman, "have now become so ubiquitous and so pervasive that they are believed, so you have almost a parallel truth, and it has become a very effective tool for recruiting people."

Rep. Jane Harman sponsored the Violent Radicalization and Homegrown Terrorism Prevention Act of 2007.

As Alex Jones has noted numerous times on his radio show, the FBI and military intelligence have taken a keen interest in the comment sections on Infowars and Prison Planet. In the last week and a half the liberal noise machine and to a lesser degree the corporate media have kicked into overdrive in an attempt to link Jones and his websites to a deluded and violent individual. It should not be considered a coincidence the DHS document considers the murders in Pittsburgh an indication of emerging “rightwing terrorist” violence, specifically in response to “proposed” gun laws now in the works, as the document indicates.

Conclusion

The document is designed primarily to radicalize local law enforcement and convince individual police officers that citizens opposed to violations of the Second Amendment, draconian gun legislation (including registration and ammunition tracking schemes) and illegal immigration are terrorists capable of committing acts of violence against them. It is a cynical effort to increase the tension between police and the community at large, especially members of the community that exercise the Second Amendment and oppose open border policies.

In addition, the document equates opposition to the policies of Barack Obama to racism. Opposition to "a range of issues, including immigration and citizenship, the expansion of social programs to minorities, and restrictions on firearms ownership and use" is characterized as exploiting "racial and political prejudices."

Obviously, the document is part of a larger campaign by the government to circumvent legitimate political activism and characterize such activity as the behavior of a violent minority of terrorists. It is noteworthy that several issues of concern to our rulers — namely firearm possession and the effort to flood the country with lower paid workers and thus undermine the middle class — are highlighted in this until now secret and restricted document.

'Right-Wing Billionaires' and 'Rightwing Extremists'

By Robert Stacy McCain on 4.13.09 @ 12:45PM

Speaking as an old newspaper editor, I mainly wish they would make up their minds whether it's hyphenated or not, but either way, the right wing is making news today.

First, your tax dollars at work: Stephen Gordon has obtained a new Department of Homeland Security report provocatively entitled "Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Environment Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment."

The DHS report describes as potential terrorists those who "are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration." This is a conspiracy so immense, one witty fellow observed, as to involve Mark Krikorian, David Boaz, Antonin Scalia, and just about everyone who didn't vote for Obama in November.

These extremists are wealthy beyond your wildest imagination, according to Paul Krugman, who sees "the usual group of right-wing billionaires" orchestrating the nationwide Tax Day Tea Party protests Wednesday.

Echoing the "JournoList-approved Meme of the Week," Krugman names Dick Armey and Fox News as the fiendish right-wingers bankrolling this scheme, which is kind of a surprise to me. I'm driving down to Alabama for the big Birmingham-area Tea Party at Veterans Park in Hoover, Ala., and so far that fat check from Vast Right-Wing Conspiracy HQ hasn't arrived in my mailbox.

This apparent lack of coordination between the "right-wing billionaires" and the "Rightwing Extremists" probably explains why they can't agree on that hyphen.

Homeland Security document targets most conservatives and libertarians in the country

by Stephen Gordon

Thousands of racists and terrorists rally at Cincinnati Tea Party

Remember that now-retracted Missouri Information Analysis Center report which stated that small-government types (specifically Ron Paul, Bob Barr and Chuck Baldwin supporters) were potential terrorist threats? According to this new Homeland Security report, all it takes to fit the terrorist profile is to have general anti-government feelings or prefer local/state government to federal control over everything.

The federal Homeland Security Department document entitled “Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Environment Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment” contains the following definition:

Rightwing extremism in the United States can be broadly divided into those groups, movements, and adherents that are primarily hate-oriented (based on hatred of particular religious, racial or ethnic groups), and those that are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration.

Also targeted in the report are veterans, folks anticipating additional restrictions to their Second Amendment rights, and those concerned about the loss of U.S. sovereignty.

This report implies that one harboring these sorts of views is a racist as well as a potential terrorism suspect.

Tea Party terrorists?

Stephen Gordon has obtained a new report from the Department of Homeland Security issued just in time for Wednesday's Tea Party protests and entitled, "Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Environment Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment."

This DHS report warns of the terrorist threat from those who "are mainly antigovernment, rejecting federal authority in favor of state or local authority, or rejecting government authority entirely. It may include groups and individuals that are dedicated to a single issue, such as opposition to abortion or immigration."

Mark Krikorian, David Boaz and Antonin Scalia are urged to turn themselves in at the nearest FEMA detention center.

UPDATE: Michael Merritt:

It gives the impression, undeserved or not, that the Obama administration is becoming a left-wing incarnation of the Richard Nixon administration, with lists of political enemies and wiretaps at the headquarters of their opponents.

What's interesting is that the feds specify right-wing domestic terrorism as the likely result of the "economic and political environment." OK, why?

People are saying that Mexico is teetering on the verge of becoming a "failed state," and already the U.S.-Mexico border is plagued by narco-terror violence. What does DHS have to say about that? Why this apparent assumption that we are due for something like a Timothy McVeigh/Eric Rudolph scenario?

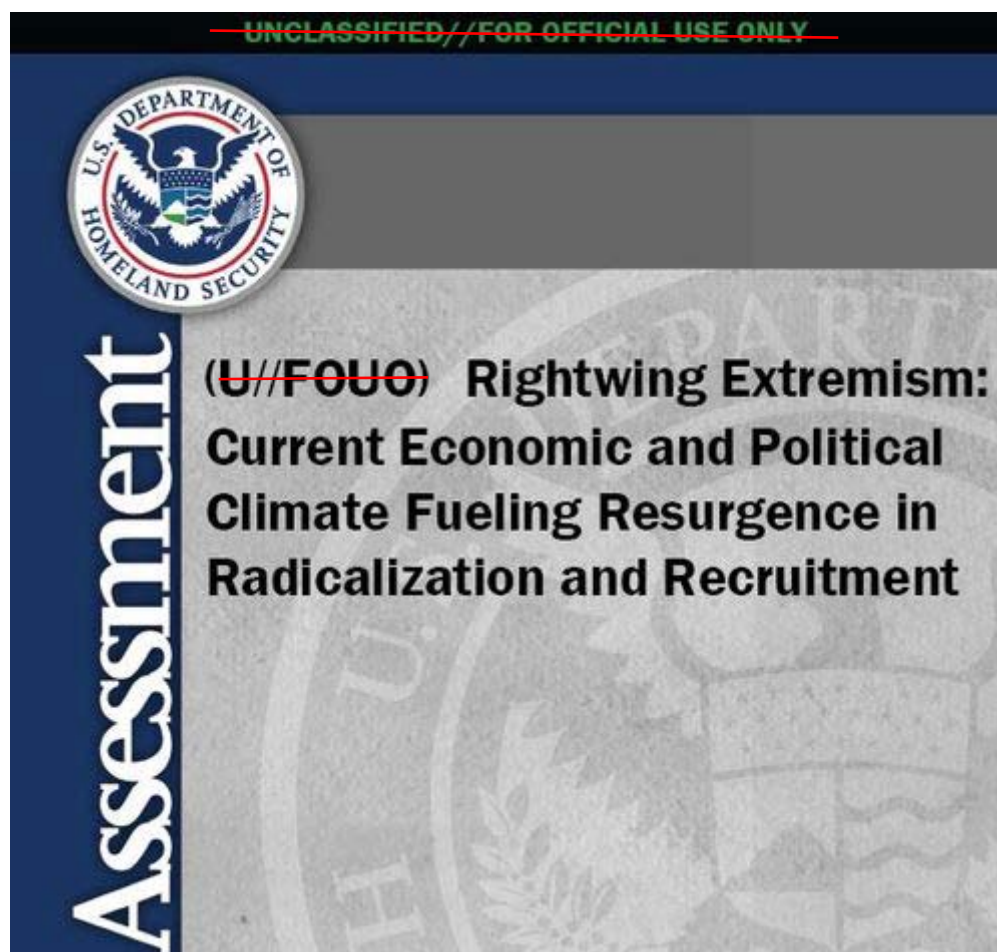

They're "fighting the last war," so to speak, expecting the immediate future to resemble the immediate past. Well, history repeats itself, but not usually in such a direct manner. I'd hate to think DHS was spending so much time checking out every fringe kook in Idaho that they ignored the continuing Al-Qaeda threat.

SHOCKING NEW REPORT! OBAMA'S REAL TERRORISTS: TARGETING PATRIOTS AND THE RIGHT

Have you seen this? It is the fascist blueprint to create a police state and legalize gulags. This is not a spoof. This is Obama's "civilian army's" MOB. (hat tip the Rockman)

~~(U)~~ Key Findings ~~(U//LES)~~ The DHS/Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A) has no specific information that domestic rightwing* terrorists are currently planning acts of violence, but rightwing extremists may be gaining new recruits by playing on their fears about several emergent issues. The economic downturn and the election of the first African American president present unique drivers for rightwing radicalization and recruitment.

Translation: There is no threat. Give us time, we'll create one.

— ~~(U//LES)~~ Threats from white supremacist and violent antigovernment groups during 2009 have been largely rhetorical and have not indicated plans to carry out violent acts. Nevertheless, the consequences of a prolonged economic downturn—including real estate foreclosures, unemployment, and an inability to obtain credit—could create a fertile recruiting environment for rightwing extremists and even result in confrontations between such groups and government authorities similar to those in the past.

Translation: There is no threat. Give us time, we'll create one.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ The current economic and political climate has some similarities to the 1990s when rightwing extremism experienced a resurgence fueled largely by an economic recession, criticism about the outsourcing of jobs, and the perceived threat to U.S. power and sovereignty by other foreign powers.

American sovereignty is a radical position now?

— ~~(U//FOUO)~~ During the 1990s, these issues contributed to the growth in the number of domestic rightwing terrorist and extremist groups and an increase in violent acts targeting government facilities, law enforcement officers, banks, and infrastructure sectors.

Sounds like they are describing Bill Ayers and Bernardine Dohrn, Obama's great friends and terrorist patriots!~

— ~~(U//FOUO)~~ Growth of these groups subsided in reaction to increased government scrutiny as a result of the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing and disrupted plots, improvements in the economy, and the continued U.S. standing as the preeminent world power.

Here they go again, pulling that 15 year old canard out of their ass (while neglecting to point out McVeigh's Middle Eastern connections. Tom has more on [the al Qaeda connection too]. Their evidence is one terror attack 15 years ago -- but fail to mention the 13,000 Islamic attacks since 9/11. Got that?

~~(U//FOUO)~~ The possible passage of new restrictions on firearms and the return of military veterans facing significant challenges reintegrating into their communities could lead to the potential emergence of terrorist groups or lone wolf extremists capable of carrying out violent attacks.

Ah, there it is. take their guns away. Jail'em if they disagree.

— ~~(U//FOUO)~~ Proposed imposition of firearms restrictions and weapons bans likely would attract new members into the ranks of rightwing extremist groups, as well as potentially spur some of them to begin planning and training for violence against the government. The high volume of purchases and stockpiling of weapons and ammunition by rightwing extremists in anticipation of restrictions and bans in some parts of the country continue to be a primary concern to law enforcement. —

Ban? What ban? This is a staging. Fake staging to seize weapons.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Returning veterans possess combat skills and experience that are attractive to rightwing extremists. DHS/I&A is concerned that rightwing extremists will attempt to recruit and radicalize returning veterans in order to boost their violent capabilities.

Radicalize the nation's greatest patriots. Are you seeing this? The only radicalization happening on a national/global scale is Islamic jihad. Our vets????

~~(U)~~ Current Economic and Political Climate

~~(U//FOUO)~~ DHS/I&A assesses that a number of economic and political factors are driving a resurgence in rightwing extremist recruitment and radicalization activity. Despite similarities to the climate of the 1990s, the threat posed by lone wolves and small terrorist cells is more pronounced than in past years. In addition, the historical election of an African American president and the prospect of policy changes are proving to be a driving force for rightwing extremist recruitment and radicalization. —

There he goes again. Playing the race card again. Racism was dead in this country. It is Obama's objective to create a divisive schism in this country. The country ain't buying it. We, as a nation, elected him. Racism charge dead.

~~(U)~~ A recent example of the potential violence associated with a rise in rightwing extremism may be found in the shooting deaths of three police officers in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on 4 April 2009. The alleged gunman's reaction reportedly was influenced by his racist ideology and belief in antigovernment conspiracy theories related to gun confiscations, citizen detention camps, and a Jewish-controlled "one world government."

One friggin nut and they will try to change the constitution. Thousands of Islamic attacks, honor killings, clitorectomies, shariah law, child marriage, child slavery, human slavery, lashings -- deduce nothing! And should you mention any of these things -- you are a racist and Islamophobe.

As a Jew, this nut does not worry me. There will always be nuts - exceptions make bad law.

Where does this report address the thousands of acts of lone jihad syndrome, here and abroad? Suicide or otherwise?

~~(U)~~ Exploiting Economic Downturn

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Rightwing extremist chatter on the Internet continues to focus on the economy, the perceived loss of U.S. jobs in the manufacturing and construction sectors, and home foreclosures. Anti-Semitic extremists attribute these losses to a deliberate conspiracy conducted by a cabal of Jewish “financial elites.” These “accusatory” tactics are employed to draw new recruits into rightwing extremist groups and further radicalize those already subscribing to extremist beliefs. DHS/I&A assesses this trend is likely to accelerate if the economy is perceived to worsen.

They are using the Jews. Most if not all of the recent spate of anti-semitic attacks here and abroad were committed by Muslims. FACT.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Perceptions on Poverty and Radicalization

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Scholars and experts disagree over poverty’s role in motivating violent radicalization or terrorist activity. High unemployment, however, has the potential to lead to alienation, thus increasing an individual’s susceptibility to extremist ideas. According to a 2007 study from the German Institute for Economic Research, there appears to be a strong association between a parent’s unemployment status and the formation of rightwing extremist beliefs in their children—specifically xenophobia and antidemocratic ideals. ownership and use. Rightwing extremists are increasingly galvanized by these concerns and leverage them as drivers for recruitment. From the 2008 election timeframe to the present, rightwing extremists have capitalized on related racial and political prejudices in expanded propaganda campaigns, thereby reaching out to a wider audience of potential sympathizers. —

Translation: Anyone who believes in immigration control and reform is an extremist. This is the club to the head of any resistance to shamnesty.

The German Institute? WTF? Who the hell are they and why should we care?

~~(U//LES)~~ Most statements by rightwing extremists have been rhetorical, expressing concerns about the election of the first African American president, but stopping short of calls for violent action. In two instances in the run-up to the election, extremists appeared to be in the early planning stages of some threatening activity targeting the Democratic nominee, but law enforcement interceded.

Never happened. Look at history. Recent assassination attempts have been by leftopaths (Squeaky), commies (Oswald) and nuts (Hinckley).

~~(U)~~ Revisiting the 1990s

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Paralleling the current national climate, rightwing extremists during the 1990s exploited a variety of social issues and political themes to increase group visibility and recruit new members. Prominent among these themes were the militia movement’s opposition to gun control efforts, criticism of free trade agreements (particularly those with Mexico), and highlighting perceived government infringement on civil liberties as well as white supremacists' longstanding exploitation of social issues such as abortion, inter-racial crimes, and same-sex marriage.

Abortion, gay marriage and racism -- the inane drone of the left. I have been to these rallies and let me tell you - the proponents of gay marriage, abortion and "racism canards" are the violent ones. Every time.

~~(U)~~ Economic Hardship and Extremism

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Historically, domestic rightwing extremists have feared, predicted, and anticipated a cataclysmic economic collapse in the United States. Prominent antigovernment conspiracy theorists have incorporated aspects of an impending economic collapse to intensify fear and paranoia among like-minded individuals and to attract recruits during times of economic uncertainty. Conspiracy theories involving declarations of martial law, impending civil strife or racial conflict, suspension of the U.S. Constitution, and the creation of citizen detention camps often incorporate aspects of a failed economy. Antigovernment conspiracy theories and "end times" prophecies could motivate extremist individuals and groups to stockpile food, ammunition, and weapons. These teachings also have been linked with the radicalization of domestic extremist individuals and groups in the past, such as violent Christian Identity organizations and extremist members of the militia movement

Obama has set about to bankrupt this nation with a nine trillion rip off of the national treasury. The bankrupting of the hardworking to pay off his thug political machine and his thug army. Any great American (think tea parties) who dissents will be targeted.

Page 5 of 9 ~~(U)~~ Illegal Immigration

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Rightwing extremists were concerned during the 1990s with the perception that illegal immigrants were taking away American jobs through their willingness to work at significantly lower wages. They also opposed free trade agreements, arguing that these arrangements resulted in Americans losing jobs to countries such as Mexico.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Over the past five years, various rightwing extremists, including militias and white supremacists, have adopted the immigration issue as a call to action, rallying point, and recruiting tool. Debates over appropriate immigration levels and enforcement policy generally fall within the realm of protected political speech under the First Amendment, but in some cases, anti-immigration or strident pro-enforcement fervor has been directed against specific groups and has the potential to turn violent.

Obama wants shamnesty. Obama wants to open up the flood gates, have ACORN register them to vote - overwhelm the electorate with entitlement voters. The end the will of the American people - the end of fair elections.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ DHS/I&A assesses that rightwing extremist groups' frustration over a perceived lack of government action on illegal immigration has the potential to incite individuals or small groups toward violence. If such violence were to occur, it likely would be isolated, small-scale, and directed at specific immigration-related targets. —

Check out the word "perceived" - the fact that the government is doing nothing is beside the point, right? The reference "directed at specific immigration-related targets" refers to Binghamton -- and my sources tell me, Binghamton was not a lone gunman -- was not a guy who was pissed because he lost his job. My sources tell me there were supposed to be more. It was retaliation in that Muslim enclave.

Page 6 of 9 — (U//FOUO) On the current front, legislation has been proposed this year requiring mandatory registration of all firearms in the United States. Similar legislation was introduced in 2008 in several states proposing mandatory tagging and registration of ammunition. It is unclear if either bill will be passed into law; nonetheless, a correlation may exist between the potential passage of gun control legislation and increased hoarding of ammunition, weapons stockpiling, and paramilitary training activities among rightwing extremists.

Gun control. Period.

~~(U)~~ Perceived Threat from Rise of Other Countries

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Rightwing extremist paranoia of foreign regimes could escalate or be magnified in the event of an economic crisis or military confrontation, harkening back to the “New World Order” conspiracy theories of the 1990s. The dissolution of Communist countries in Eastern Europe and the end of the Soviet Union in the 1990s led some rightwing extremists to believe that a “New World Order” would bring about a world government that would usurp the sovereignty of the United States and its Constitution, thus infringing upon their liberty. The dynamics in 2009 are somewhat similar, as other countries, including China, India, and Russia, as well as some smaller, oil-producing states, are experiencing a rise in economic power and influence. —

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Lone Wolves and Small Terrorist Cells

~~(U//FOUO)~~ DHS/I&A assesses that lone wolves and small terrorist cells embracing violent rightwing extremist ideology are the most dangerous domestic terrorism threat in the United States. Information from law enforcement and nongovernmental organizations indicates lone wolves and small terrorist cells have shown intent—and, in some cases, the capability—to commit violent acts. —

"Lone wolves and "terror cells" embracing rightwing ideology are the most "dangerous domestic terrorism threat to the United States"?"

This document poses the most dangerous threat to these great United States.

~~(U//LES)~~ DHS/I&A has concluded that white supremacist lone wolves pose the most significant domestic terrorist threat because of their low profile and autonomy—separate from any formalized group—which hampers warning efforts. —

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Similarly, recent state and municipal law enforcement reporting has warned of the dangers of rightwing extremists embracing the tactics of “leaderless resistance” and of lone wolves carrying out acts of violence. —

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Arrests in the past several years of radical militia members in Alabama, Arkansas, and Pennsylvania on firearms, explosives, and other related violations indicates the emergence of small, well-armed extremist groups in some rural areas. ordinance that they planned to use in attacks on nearby military and federal facilities and infrastructure targets. —

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Rightwing extremist views bemoan the decline of U.S. stature and have recently focused on themes such as the loss of U.S. manufacturing capability to China and India, Russia’s control of energy resources and use of these to pressure other countries, and China’s investment in U.S. real estate and corporations as a part of subversion strategy.

Rightwing extremist views bemoan the decline of U.S. stature? LIE. Obama fallaciously preaches about the decline of US stature us right wing Patriots know better.

Obama and his minions cannot demoralize Americans who love this country. Not possible. His Alinsky rules for radicals will not work on thinking, rational men and women.

~~(U)~~ Disgruntled Military Veterans

The only disgruntled military are the ones that were forced to applaud the traitor in the White House.

~~(U)~~ After Operation Desert Shield/Storm in 1990-1991, some returning military veterans—including Timothy McVeigh—joined or associated with rightwing extremist groups. —

He hates the military.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Unlike the earlier period, the advent of the Internet and other informationage technologies since the 1990s has given domestic extremists greater access to information related to bomb-making, weapons training, and tactics, as well as targeting of individuals, organizations, and facilities, potentially making extremist individuals and groups more dangerous and the consequences of their violence more severe. New technologies also permit domestic extremists to send and receive encrypted communications and to network with other extremists throughout the country and abroad, making it much more difficult for law enforcement to deter, prevent, or preempt a violent extremist attack.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ A number of law enforcement actions and external factors were effective in limiting the militia movement during the 1990s and could be utilized in today's climate.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Following the 1995 bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah federal building in Oklahoma City, the militia movement declined in total membership and in the number of organized groups because many members distanced themselves from the movement as a result of the intense scrutiny militias received after the bombing. —

They have one bombing -- one (with Middle Eastern connections that were suppressed) - and this is the basis of their takeover and coup on the Constitution.

Free men are under siege. Read this document - Department of [undermining] Homeland Security.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Militia membership continued to decline after the turn of the millennium as a result of law enforcement disruptions of multiple terrorist plots linked to violent rightwing extremists, new legislation banning paramilitary training, and militia frustration that the “revolution” never materialized. —

~~(U//FOUO)~~ Although the U.S. economy experienced a significant recovery and many perceived a concomitant rise in U.S. standing in the world, white supremacist groups continued to experience slight growth.

~~(U//FOUO)~~ DHS/I&A will be working with its state and local partners over the next several months to ascertain with greater regional specificity the rise in rightwing extremist activity in the United States, with a particular emphasis on the political, economic, and social factors that drive rightwing extremist radicalization.

WELCOME TO OBAMERICA: HOMELAND SECURITY BANS ATLAS

An officer over at the Dept. Homeland Security - Customs and Border Protection sent me this screenshot when he tried to access Atlas. He is the third reader (who shall remain anonymous) who works at Homeland Security who cannot log onto Atlas. They had been able to access my site continually up until this week. "It went from to access to no access overnight".

The reader works for the Dept. Homeland Security - Customs and Border Protection. They all have Internet access through the national mainframe (somewhere in Virginia I think). All Internet connectivity runs through one central computer center. One 'click' and the Dept can turn off anyone.

In Obama's Amerabia - Atlas is banned. That's beautiful. ACORN, Blago, Reverend Wright, Farrakhan, Ayers, the scum of the earth welcomed into his lair - Atlas is banned. And is the tea bag terror!

I am flattered that he is shattered.
